DAV College Bathinda was established in 1969 and now it has emerged as a major educational centre in Malwa region, affiliated to the Punjabi University, Patiala, with Post-Graduation in nine subjects and diversified educational facilities in the fields of Computer, Management, Commerce, Humanities and Science.

ABOUT THE SEMINAR

Amidst economic challenges across the globe, India has posed a beacon of hope with ambitious growth targets, supported by a bunch of strategic moves such as the Make in India and Digital India campaigns. The Goods and Services Tax (GST) has been heralded as the biggest indirect tax reform in India after Independence. Implementation of GST is expected to provide the much needed stimulant for economic growth in India by transforming the existing base of indirect taxation towards the free flow of goods and services.

GST is destination-based consumption tax levied at multiple stages of production and distribution of goods and services. It combines various other taxes such as state and local tax, entertainment tax, excise duty, surcharges, octroi and other key features of GST is the elimination of the cascading effect of various state and central taxes. State taxes that will be subsumed within the GST are VAT, entertainment tax, entry tax, luxury tax, tax on betting and gambling. Various central taxes that will be subsumed are Central Excise Duty, Additional Excise Duty, Service tax, Additional Custom Duty, Special Additional Duty and Central Sales tax.

The 'Make In India' campaign promoted by the Indian government gets boosted with the rollout of the GST. Earlier, excise duty on pre-packaged products for retail consumption was levied not on the transaction value at the ex-factory but on a fixed percentage of the maximum retail price (MRP) on the package. This led to a higher MRP, which indicated a higher cost burden for the consumers. Under the GST regime, tax is paid by the manufacturers while purchasing raw materials for the products. The amount is credited for subsequent resellers till the product reaches the final consumer. This eases the tax burden significantly.

Furthermore, there are other flip sides to this tax neutrality. GST regime won't differentiate between luxury goods and normal goods; this makes hard for the SMEs to compete against large enterprises. GST that is ultimately levied on supply is not being available for input credit. This leads to an increase in the cost of the products for business that supply directly to end users.

Presently, level of familiarity with this new taxation system and its benefits is low in the society. The aim of organising this seminar is to generate awareness of the newly adopted GST system to the masses, especially those related with the educational institutions. As the society has always entrusted great belief that educational institutions happen to be the centres of human resource development and the learners who come out of these centres are expected to go to the society and take up some responsibility.

The seminar will focus to achieve the following objectives:-

- To give an intensive exposure of the topic through presentations and discussions led by multiple experts.
- To achieve the government's aim of providing an insight of the changing indirect taxes scenario among the masses.
- To study and analyse the challenges and drivers of transformation of Indian tax regime.

India is projected to play an important role in the world economy in the years to come. The expectation of GST being introduced is high not only within the country, but also within neighbouring countries and developed economies of the world.

The purpose of the proposed seminar is to serve as an important platform for structured information-sharing on the topic; 'GST: A Beacon Of Hope For India-Issues & Challenges', with the following sub themes:-
